

..will there be any privacy

---

left in 2030, anyway?

Mika Lauhde

Vice-President, Cyber Security and Privacy
Global Affairs

22nd and 23rd Nov 2018
EUROPOL EDEN II

DISCLAIMER

- All the views and opinions in this panel are the author's private views and opinions.
- Any resemblance with company or institution views and opinions is purely coincidental

- CHATHAM HOUSE RULE

A black and white photograph of a misty, mountainous landscape. In the foreground, a light-colored path or stream bed curves through a dark, shadowed area. The middle ground is dominated by a range of mountains, their peaks obscured by thick, billowing mist. The sky above the mountains is bright and featureless. The overall atmosphere is one of mystery and uncertainty.

Niels Bohr: “It is very hard to predict, especially the future.”

Oct 20, 2013

Thank You.

Copyright©2016 Huawei Technologies Co., Ltd. All Rights Reserved.
The information in this document may contain predictive statements including, without limitation, statements regarding the future financial and operating results, future product portfolio, new technology, etc. There are a number of factors that could cause actual results and developments to differ materially from those expressed or implied in the predictive statements. Therefore, such information is provided for reference purpose only and constitutes neither an offer nor an acceptance. Huawei may change the information at any time without notice.

mika.lauhde@huawei.com

Huawei Technologies Co., Ltd

PUBLIC

Document made public on:

20 FEB 2019